

The Google-CME Partnership will Catalyze Growth of New Technologies in Financial Services

18 November 2021 By: Greg O'Gara

The Google/CME deal is largely unprecedented. Google has the opportunity to directly explore dynamic market data, derivative trading products and financial communication pipelines through the lens of quantum computing and advanced algorithms. If the partnership progresses beyond CME's infrastructure, the applications they can bring to market could fundamentally impact the capital markets landscape.
